Project name and client name:	www.synolic.com
Dates:	In total:1..... months worked on this project
Project description / as detailed as possible: This site is for a business consulting company. It's main goal is to attract new customers and to radiate a feeling of superior services. We used Flash technology in combination with HTML and PHP to create the "Synolic" experience as we named it. The project is connected to a mysql database from where it retrieves data and information. All data is on a Linux server and is loaded and manipulated via a custom site manager system.

Employee's nature of work in the project / as detailed as possible: My roles in this project were to contact the client for a full creative brief, translate the words and signs I got from him to my team and then manage the projects progress. The client needed something with character and at the same time something easy to use. So I came up with the idea of using an icon, a hero, a mascot. After designing my self some drafts of the "Synolic Man" I contacted a freelance cartoonist and asked him to design for us this mascot using wet paint effects. This in general gave the project another look & feel, something out of the ordinary a simple photograph would not have the power to do.

Project description / as detailed as possible: This is a site I designed and developed completely in flash for a company called Printall. This company is a printing and multimedia agency and wanted something "avant garde". A thing worth noting here is the use of dynamic text files in the main categories of the site that can be changed by the site administrator without having to have any knowledge of flash. This gives the site more flexibility.

PROJECT/EMPLOYMENT EXPERIENCE
Employer:	Athens 2004 (freelancer)
Project name and client name:	Athens 2004 DMS
Dates:	In total:3..... months worked on this project
Project description / as detailed as possible: The goal of this project was to design an Extranet online "tool", that would give the power to the Athens 2004 architects and mechanics all over the world, to exchange useful information and AutoCAD designs over the web. This tool can only be viewed through the Athens 2004 extranet, but I have the designs I can present in case of an interview. The DMS as the client calls it stands for Drawing Management System and is developed using ASP and SQL technology. In order to make the CAD designs viewable we used the Auto Cad plug-in that produced JPG copies of all the blueprints.

Employee's nature of work in the project / as detailed as possible: The Aim project was one of the most important projects for me. This is because I created the concept; I participated in the presentation of the idea, made the design and was in charge of the team working on the development of the site! And all this for the first time in my career! During this project, I got a chance to explore new technologies and discovered that quick creative thinking needed a positive attitude!
